THE ROBERT ANDERSON PAPERS

The Robert Anderson Papers, 1693 [1787-1858] 1877, consist of 4728 pieces and 35 volumes relating to late eighteenth-and nineteenth-century Williamsburg and vicinity.

Robert Anderson, the son of Williamsburg blacksmith James Anderson and Hannah Tyler Anderson was born at Howard's Neck in Gloucester County on 22 October 1781.¹ Robert was the last of eight children born to James and Hannah; the others were: William, John Tyler, Leroy, Ann, James, Julia, and Henry.² On 18 August 1814, Robert Anderson married Helen Maxwell Macauley Southall, the daughter of Alexander and Elizabeth Macauley and the widow of Peyton Southall.³ Robert and Helen had no issue but he regarded her four children by her previous marriage (Peyton Alexander Southall, Helen Matilda Southall, George Washington Southall, and Elianna Jerdone Southall Bright) as his own.⁴ Robert Anderson moved to York Town permanently following a family rupture over his administration of George Washington Southall's estate and died there on 25 January 1859.⁵

Anderson was a wealthy businessman with varied interests and this is reflected in his papers. He was a Williamsburg and York Town merchant; served as an agent for the Mutual Assurance Society, 1811-1857, and the Aetna Insurance Company, 1838-1857; was director of the James River Steam Boat Company (1844); acted as administrator or executor of various estates; owned property in Williamsburg and York Town, and James City and York counties; and was active in politics. Anderson was mayor of Williamsburg in 1812, 1820, and 1828;⁶ alderman in 1825;⁷ and an unsuccessful candidate for various state and federal offices in the 1830's and '40's.

The Robert Anderson Papers are divided into the following groups: business, general correspondence, political, deeds, land papers, legal papers, family correspondence. The largest group is business papers which are divided into the papers of Matthew Anderson, 1782-1823; the papers of Robert Anderson, 1803-1858; estate papers, 1801-1858; insurance papers, 1796-1858; and steamboat papers, 1844-1850.

Robert Anderson entered the mercantile business under his uncle Matthew Anderson who operated a store in Williamsburg in the late eighteenth century, and acted as his uncle's confidential agent.⁸ In the Matthew Anderson papers, 1782-1803, are several papers, 1782-1787 and one ledger, 1784-1788, of the firm [David] Low and Anderson; correspondence and accounts of Littleton Waller Tazewell with Matthew Anderson, 1803-1823. There are also fifteen account books, 1788-1804, of Matthew Anderson.

About the time of his uncle's death in 1803, Robert Anderson entered into a partnership with Thomas and William McCandlish⁹ and there are several papers of the firm, 1804-1815, and some relating to a suit, Anderson v. McCandlish, 1807-1836, in the Robert Anderson papers.

After Anderson dissolved the partnership in December, 1805,¹⁰ he engaged in various business pursuits. The main part of the business papers contains accounts, receipts, bonds, notes, contracts, of Robert Anderson, 1800-1858. There is an interesting series of letters and accounts of Anderson with George Page & Company of Baltimore, 1855-1857, regarding the building and operation of a gristmill at York Town. Papers relating to various business suits include the John Crump papers, 1804-1855; the Repiton Family papers, 1824-1855; and the Repiton and Bruff papers, 1827-1836. A detailed plat of the John Crump House, 1808, contained in the John Crump papers, is of particular interest for Williamsburg. The Repiton Family papers include letters and accounts of Joseph A. Repiton, (a printer), and interesting correspondence regarding St. Domingo claims held by the Doford and Repiton families. The Repiton and Bruff papers are letters and papers of the Williamsburg printing establishment operated by Joseph A. Repiton, Charles S. Bruff, and James T. Bruff.

There are thirteen manuscript volumes, 1801-1857, including several account books of Robert Anderson; an account book of Peyton Southall, 1801-[1803]; a Williamsburg daybook of Cary and Co., 1835-1840; a register and ledger for the Swan Tavern at York Town, 1852; Anderson's bank book, 1835-1856; and a memorandum book, 1850-1857.

The estate papers, 1801-1858, contain documents, accounts, and memos relating to the estates of members of the Anderson, Macauley, Southall, and Ashburn families; correspondence and papers regarding the estates of Mary Williamson [Robert Anderson executor], 1821-1850; Mary Charlton, 1794-1835; Seymour, Powell, 1776-1831; as well as several others.

Robert Anderson was an agent for the Mutual Assurance Society of Richmond, and the Aetna Insurance Company of Hartford.

The insurance papers, 1796-1857, include correspondence and accounts with John O. Lay and Heman Baldwin of Aetna, 1838-1857; and John R. Rutherford of the Mutual Assurance Society, 1840-1857; insurance policies for Williamsburg property, 1796-1853; and some for Richmond, Norfolk, and York Town property, 1829-1853. There are two insurance agent's account books, 1837-1853 and four copies of the Constitution of the Mutual Assurance Society, 1795-1856.

The steamboat papers, 1844-1850, are primarily grocery, bar, and coal accounts of the steamboats "Alice" and the "Curtis Peck" of the James River Steam Boat Company.

The general correspondence, 1799-1858, is mainly of a business nature but is concerned also with political and personal matters. Among the correspondents are Mary M. Peachy (1763-1836), Maria Moody Crump (writing in regard to Williamsburg property), Robert McCandlish () (business and politics), Leonard Henley (1789-1831), Robert Saunders (1805-1868) (business and politics), Theodore Pearson (concerning his Williamsburg tanyard property), Abel P. Upshur (1790-1842), Robert G. Scott (1789-1869/70), Phillip J. Barziza, Scervant Jones (1785-1854), Ann Meade Randolph (1731-1814), Maria Beverley Randolph Corbin (1764-1840) and Gawin L. Corbin (1778-1821), John B. Peachy (concerning his love for Ann E. Cole and a fight with Robert Saunders), Samuel S. Griffin (1782-1864), James L. C. Griffin (1814-1878), and Richard Coke, Jr. (1804-1851) (regarding business and political matters, 1829-1851).

The political papers contain correspondence, 1815-1858, with Thomas M. Bayly, Scervant Jones, Robert Saunders, Richard R. Garrett, and George Washington Southall (1849); poll lists, 1813-1850 (some clerk's copies) for federal and state offices for Williamsburg and James City, York, Accomack, Elizabeth City, and Warwick counties; political notes and memos; circulars; and electoral tickets. Included are notes on Anti-Jackson meetings, 1827-1838; papers concerning the Richmond-York Town Railroad; drafts of newspaper articles and speeches; and notes on election proceedings in various places.

The Anderson Papers contain deeds (originals and clerk's copies) to property in Williamsburg, 1802-1841, York Town, and James City, York and Warwick counties, 1694-1857. There are several deeds of gift and trust for property, slaves, and stock. Many of the deeds are related to papers in other parts of the collection and should be checked by researchers.

The land papers consist of plats, leases, rental agreements, extracts from deeds, and memos. There are three Williamsburg plats [two of which are variations of Bucktrouts's plat]; the rest of the plats are mainly of York County, 1745-1822.

The legal papers contain warrants, 1820-1856, many of which are for the arrest of slaves and some for rent distress.

There is one folder of extracts from court records (9 pieces), 1833-1847, the majority of which are orders for the York County sheriff to hire out all free Negroes who have not paid their levies. Several folders have material concerning land causes, 1822-1856, including the case of Sarah Jackson v. Peter Powell, 1822-1831 (Williamsburg property), and Anderson v. Vail, 1830-1835. The rest of the land cases, Nelson v. Anderson, 1846-1848; Coupland v. Anderson, 1855-1856; and Anderson v. Eagle, 1856, concern York County property. The legal papers also contain business papers of William H. Redwood and correspondence between Redwood and George Washington Southall, 1831-1852, regarding a number of notes, accounts, and other papers for collection, suit, and settlement which Redwood left with Southall. Redwood's letters, first written from Norfolk, and then (1838 on) from Mobile, Alabama, contain references to various members of the family and local people; comments on life in Alabama; the health of an ill slave; and the sale of Burnt Ordinary in James City County. There are two letters from Leroy H. Redwood, one of which is about his matriculation at the University of Virginia in 1848.

Correspondence of various family members, concerned with family or personal matters are separate from the general correspondence. These family letters provide information on early nineteenth-century Virginia life, the treatment of household slaves, and the geographic mobility of people in the early nineteenth-century. Although a majority of the letters are written from various places in Virginia (Richmond, York Town, Norfolk, Portsmouth) there are letters from New York City [Robert Anderson Ashburn, William Henry Anderson, Mary Frances Anderson, Sarah Ann White, Robert John White]; Princeton [William Tyler Anderson, Jr.]; Paris, France [Leroy Hammond Anderson, William Henry Anderson]; Mobile and Sumterville, Alabama [Leroy Hammond Anderson, William Henry Anderson, Harriet S. Ashburn, Robert Anderson Ashburn, William Henry Redwood]. Topics include the study of medicine in New York [Robert Anderson Ashburn] and France [Leroy Hammond Anderson, William Henry Anderson]; politics in New York [Robert Anderson Ashburn], Virginia [Hamilton Shields, Hamilton L. Shields, William S. Richardson, Mary Frances Anderson], and Alabama [Leroy Hammond Anderson, William Henry Anderson]; female education [Harriet S. Ashburn, Mary Frances Anderson]; and life at the University of Virginia [William Henry Anderson] and the Virginia Military Institute [Hamilton L. Shields]. Certain interesting letters are an 1843 letter from Leroy Hammond Anderson in Paris, re the French reaction to the Oregon bill; an 1850 description of New Year's Day in New York City [Sarah Ann White]; and an 1858 letter mentioning Richmond's strict slave laws [Charlotte E. Anderson].
